

Journalism Association of Community Colleges Behavior Policy

The Journalism Association of Community Colleges (JACC) Statewide Convention is designed to provide enriching student learning experiences. JACC requires all students, faculty, and staff members (hereinafter “delegates”) to behave in conformity with the highest standards of professional conduct during the convention (defined as from the time the delegates leave their campus until they arrive back at their campus). Specifically, during the convention JACC requires that all delegates:

- Refrain from the use of alcohol and/or illegal substances, regardless of age or justification.
- Conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times.
- Remember that they represent their individual institutions as well as JACC and not behave in any way that would harm the reputation of either.
- Treat JACC staff, volunteers, and their peers with respect at all times.
- Balance their zeal for competing with consideration for fairness and ethical behavior.
- Recognize that JACC is an organization designed to provide enriching student learning experiences and that each delegate has a responsibility to help reach that goal.
- Recognize that no code of conduct can prejudge every situation; therefore, common sense and good judgment should always be applied with regard to ethical and behavioral principles.

Any on-site violations will be immediately reported to the appropriate college adviser and to the JACC Executive Board. There will be NO exceptions.

Any delegate who violates any provision of this policy must attend a Behavior Conduct Hearing before at least three members of the JACC Executive Board, including the Convention Chair, at least one voting student member, and at least one voting faculty member (hereinafter “Conduct Advisory Board”). Student delegates must attend the hearing with their adviser. The Behavior Conduct Hearing will be held in a timely manner, not to exceed 24 hours after the discovery of the violation. The Conduct Advisory Board may impose appropriate consequences on a delegate found to be in violation of the Behavior Policy, including but not limited to:

- a. Notification of the delegate’s dean. The dean and adviser may impose further consequences within their authority, including but not limited to adjusting the student’s grade and/or taking steps to place a hold on the student’s record.
- b. Notification of the president and/or vice president of student activities at the delegate’s school.
- c. Notification of the appropriate authorities, including local police.
- d. Expulsion from the convention.

Journalism Association of Community Colleges Behavior Policy

The Journalism Association of Community Colleges (JACC) Statewide Convention is designed to provide enriching student learning experiences. JACC requires all students, faculty, and staff members (hereinafter “delegates”) to behave in conformity with the highest standards of professional conduct during the convention (defined as from the time the delegates leave their campus until they arrive back at their campus). Specifically, during the convention JACC requires that all delegates:

- Refrain from the use of alcohol and/or illegal substances, regardless of age or justification.
- Conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times.
- Remember that they represent their individual institutions as well as JACC and not behave in any way that would harm the reputation of either.
- Treat JACC staff, volunteers, and their peers with respect at all times.
- Balance their zeal for competing with consideration for fairness and ethical behavior.
- Recognize that JACC is an organization designed to provide enriching student learning experiences and that each delegate has a responsibility to help reach that goal.
- Recognize that no code of conduct can prejudge every situation; therefore, common sense and good judgment should always be applied with regard to ethical and behavioral principles.

Any on-site violations will be immediately reported to the appropriate college adviser and to the JACC Executive Board. There will be NO exceptions.

Any delegate who violates any provision of this policy must attend a Behavior Conduct Hearing before at least three members of the JACC Executive Board, including the Convention Chair, at least one voting student member, and at least one voting faculty member (hereinafter “Conduct Advisory Board”). Student delegates must attend the hearing with their adviser. The Behavior Conduct Hearing will be held in a timely manner, not to exceed 24 hours after the discovery of the violation. The Conduct Advisory Board may impose appropriate consequences on a delegate found to be in violation of the Behavior Policy, including but not limited to:

- j. Notification of the delegate’s dean. The dean and adviser may impose further consequences within their authority, including but not limited to adjusting the student’s grade and/or taking steps to place a hold on the student’s record.
- k. Notification of the president and/or vice president of student activities at the delegate’s school.
- l. Notification of the appropriate authorities, including local police.
- m. Expulsion from the convention.

